How do I apply for a Private Student Loan?

While Bloomsburg University does not encourage excessive borrowing, we realize that not all students can meet their expenses with traditional sources of financial aid. Private Student Loans are available through many lenders. We encourage student borrowers to carefully investigate these loan programs. Students are encouraged to contact the Office of Financial Aid prior to pursuing these loans. Students should first exhaust all other sources of funding including Federal Direct Student Loan, additional Federal Direct Student Unsubsidized Loan based upon Parent PLUS Denial, Federal Direct PLUS Loan (undergraduate only), and Federal Direct GradPLUS Loan (graduate/doctoral only) before borrowing a Private Student Loan.

Bloomsburg University does not have a preferred-lender listing. We recognize that you have many choices when considering a loan. To assist you we have provided information on lenders who have made twenty or more loans to Bloomsburg students in the past three years. The lenders are listed in random order. This is not an all-inclusive listing and you are not in any way required to use any of the lenders listed. You may choose a lender that best meets your needs and requirements. We may not recommend lenders. The list of lenders may be found at ELMSelect.

Applying With the Correct Loan Term

When applying for a State/Private Student Loan, please make sure you are applying with the correct loan term. In most cases loans funds will be split evenly between the semesters based on the loan term that is requested. For instance if you submit a loan for $10,000 and indicate the term of the loan as August 2021 to May 2022, $5,000 will be disbursed in Fall 2021 and $5,000 will be disbursed in Spring 2022. Please note that the loan funds may be possibly split unequally between semesters based on other aid you are receiving and differences in enrollment between semesters.

If the loan application is submitted with the wrong loan term, the loan borrower must immediately email our office (buaid\_loan@bloomu.edu) and inform us what loan term they wish to receive the loan for. If the borrower is the student, the email must be sent from their university email account. If the school has not yet certified the loan, we can update the term of the loan. Once the loan has been certified by the university, we will not change the term of the loan or move monies between semesters. In this case the borrower may request that we cancel the loan that was certified and then reapply for a new loan with their lender using the correct loan term.
